Few things in life are perfect – Star Trek marathons and freshly microwaved Hot Pockets, maybe, but computers? No. That's why Geeks to the Rescue provides our world famous data backup services. You know you want to learn more, so just ask us when we return and we'll tell you all about this wonderful service we provide. Speaking of services, bet you didn't know we also provide repair services for XBOX, Playstation, iPhones, Blackberries and TVs? We're geeks and they're electronic devices, how couldn't you know that?!

Just because summer is here doesn't mean we're out at the beach. How could we when we're still playing Portal 2? Hmm, burn to a lobster red at a dirty, crowded beach or defy the laws of gravity with a super-cool gel gun? It's a no-brainer, people. We do pull ourselves away from the gloriousness of Portal 2 occasionally, and when we do you'll find us slaving away fixing computers, answering questions, supplying remote and network support, doing IT consulting, web development, web design, web and email hosting, and web application design. For just $29.95 a month, we'll pull ourselves away just long enough to store 100 gigabytes of your data on our secure database. That's about 50 000 digital pictures or 1000 Quickbook files!

Ah, summer. This time of year you'll see many car enthusiasts and road warriors gazing with love at their cars and motorcycles and dreaming up their next big adventure. At Geeks to the Rescue, we have that same devotion – for computers. With a love that amazing, that powerful, how couldn't you trust us to fix your computer, happily answer questions, and provide remote and network support, IT consulting, web development, web design, web and email hosting, and web application design? If you want your computer treated with a love like it's never known, let us know when we return.
